

1st August Patrol Activity

On the 1st of August 2009 some Scouts went to the hall to do a maintenance patrol activity. When we got there we were split into two groups, one inside the hall and one outside the hall. The group inside the hall, Ally, Hannah, Joshua C, Jack and myself, pulled out all the tents from in the dens, put them up and checked if they needed any repairs. If they didn't we would sweep all the sand out of them and put them away. If they did need repair we used gaffa tape over holes.

The outside group pulled out all of the tables from underneath the hall and sanded them down so that they could put on an extra coat of paint. They also sanded down the doors and put an extra coat of paint on it. After they did that the inside group made nut balls along with the outside group making Anzac cookies for afternoon tea. After we made them we got back to work with the tents while the outside group climbed the ladder and cleaned out the gutters.

When afternoon tea was ready we all got our nut balls and cookies and hot chocolate, sat down and enjoyed it. Afternoon tea was now over so the inside group swapped with the outside group and we cleaned out the gutters. So now all the major work was done.

We then collected sticks for the fire and lit the fires for all of us to cook our dinner. We all sat around the fires waiting for our dinner to cook. When our dinner was cooked we ventured on inside to eat at the tables. We celebrated World Scouting Day. After we ate dinner we played a game of scientists and cannibals, then we were picked up by our parents. We were tired and very dirty but a good days work was done.
